jazz organ combo

Organ Logistics was born in 2004 from an idea by Alberto Marsico, a Turin born organist with infinite live and studio performances, as well as collaborations and festivals participation spanning all five continents.

Their music activity begins immediately with the recording of their first album, «Organ Logistics» for the German record label Organic Music.

While the concert activity takes place mainly in Italy, trips to other European countries (and beyond) are frequent: the trio performed in Austria, France, Germany, Czech Republic and Russia, besides having held Masterclasses in numerous European schools and music conservatories.

Their second album was released in 2007 again for Organic Music: a work in which we find the precious addition of saxophonist Jesse Davis, a big star of the American jazz firmament. The title of the work is «Take a Walk on The Moon», presented in Munich for a show recorded by the German radio.

Their third recording effort, entitled «The B Side of the Fish» was recorded in Milan in 2009 for the Limen Music label. An album that is enclosed in a CD + DVD box set, with video shootings of the entire recording session, special content, interviews and video bonus tracks their next work is the CD entitled «4/4», released in 2015: recorded in Turin, sees the Organ Logistics facing a repertoire mainly formed by original compositions in the vein of the traditional jazz organ combo full of blues, soul and funk contaminations, but also exploring more contemporary jazz paths, with atmospheres that go from muscular to more rarefied

In 2019 they perform in South East Asia, with concerts in Thailand and Malaysia.

In a club, at a festival, in a theater, hotel, for public events, and wherever you look for the typical sound of the «jazz organ combo» combined with executive elegance.

Possibility to associate Masterclasses, Speech and Educational concerts.

The «Organ Logists» is the Labilia production that promotes Italian Jazz.

Alberto Marsico, one of the most famous and unique European organists, after spending years touring and recording albums all over the world, conceived this show building it around the musical world most dear to him where we find Blues, Gospel and Funk, as well as the «traditional Jazz» and yet with original, modern compositions.

Three musicians and three ways of seeing and hearing music, but all focused to achieve a performance of absolute executive quality.
